This sloped land on the hills of Manggis Karangasem has a beautiful view over the green hills and blue ocean on the East Coast of Bali.

Candidasa is a seaside town in eastern Bali that rests on the edge of a fresh water lagoon. It is a popular tourist stop and is often described as a more sedate and laid back beach alternative to the teeming, nightclub filled Kuta area or the large, manicured resorts at Nusa Dua.

Not far from Canidasa is the famous Tirta Gangga, a beautiful water palace visited by many tourists. Another well known temple is the Goa Lawah, a temple that is very important for the Balinese people because this temple protect the island from evil spirits from the sea.

From the land to Ngurah Rai International Airport it will take 1,5 hour. The winding road to the land is perfectly paved and makes that the land has a very good access on 2 sides.
